Each edition is listed in exactly a region (in general, both for a single city, or a single or several neighboring states or provinces). Thus, for the overlapping editions regiment lines, which appears listing in just one of the neighboring regions. For example, Nebraska's edition also included stations in Sioux City, Iowa and Sioux Falls, Dakota do Sul. During the period in which TV Guide has published the listings of local programs 1953-2005, the magazine Do not print regional editions for US territory, although Puerto Rico has a similar magazine called the guava. In addition, three US states, Delaware, South Dakota and Wyoming, never had its own editions. The northern part of Delaware (Piece of the Philadelphia market) was served by Philadelphia, and the South part (part of the Salisbury Market) by the Washington-Baltimore edition. Stations in the east of South Dakota (Sioux Mercado) appeared in Nebraska's edition, and subscribers in the west of the South Dakota (Rapid City) automatically received New York Metropolitan edition. Northern Colorado's edition concentrated almost exclusively on cable systems in Greeley and Fort Collins, while subscribers in the Western Wyoming Markets of Riverton, Rock Springs, and Jackson, automatically received the Salt Lake editions. The markets that served as primary area, especially those with white numbers on black channel bullets, are listed in bold. In some editions, several stations appeared on the same channel, which required publishers to be creative in the assignment of channel bullets for the stations. For example, montana edition at a channel time listed 2 stations in Billings (Black Bullet with White Number), Spokane (White Bullet with Black Number), Salt Lake (Horizontally Striped White Bullet with Black Number) , and Denver (white bullet with black stripe center containing the white number). Many of the dates are inaccurate because the exact dates of when editions entered and out of movement are not easily available, Oregon's edition that began to publish on August 20, 1955, was the 33rd regional edition of the TV Guide, According to September 13, 1958, Utah-Idaho edition, there were 51 regional tv editions that it is being printed in the United States. Unless otherwise in contrary, regional editions in the United States can be assumed to have ended with on October 9, 2005, the issuance, after which the TV Guide began to publish national lists Based on the time spindle.
